Caught doing good

Dann Jacobson goes above and beyond for all

Earlier this year, the Badger Region launched the "Caught Doing Good" recognition program. While this is not a national award, it gives members a chance to be recognized for going above and beyond.

This week's honoree is 360 Volleyball Academy Director and Coach Dann Jacobson.

The write-up from the nominator included:

"We had just finished a close match against Dann's team (14-1's @ 360 VBA). I was gathering my things when Dann came up to me to talk about one of my players. He said he was so impressed with my libero and her incredible play and would love to talk to her. Unfortunately she had already walked away so I thanked him and told him I'd pass it on. A minute later Hailey came back and I a great player, but she struggles with self-confidence. As she approached Dann his eyes lit up and as he talked to her, a huge smile lit up her face. I think as parents and coaches we can tell our players how good they are, but to have an opposing coach come up to you and take the time to talk to you and congratulate you....that's special. And it's a sign of a special coach too. One who takes the time to build up not only his team, but other players as well. Thanks Dann!"

encouraged her to go talk to Dann. Now you see, Hailey is

NTDP Academy now free

USA Volleyball has announced a member benefit that will give athletes new tools to improve their game on the court and in the sand. The National Team Development Program (NTDP) Academy is free for all members of USA Volleyball.

The NTDP Academy contains dozens of online lessons from Olympic and Paralympic athletes and coaches.

Athletes will gain insight into what it takes to succeed at the highest level and get advice and motivation to achieve their goals with unlimited access to more than 38 courses and 204 modules. The Academy also offers lessons on weight training, nutrition and sport psychology. The well-rounded curriculum is based on the five pillars of the development: craft, body, mind, heart and team.

Cost is $150 for non-members.

Start learning now by accessing the Academy through your SportsEngine account. If you need help, follow these steps.

If you are interested in still nominating someone for an award, there is still time!

To nominate someone for a "Caught Doing Good" honor, fill out this form on the Badger Region website.

The Badger Beacon will continue to recognize those "Caught Doing Good" over the next few weeks of newsletters.

Have questions? Email membership@badgervolleyball.org. Recipients and nominators of Caught Doing Good will receive prizes from the Badger Region.

2022 Club Director of the Year
Adam Stikel
Club: Southwest Milwaukee Volleyball Club
Hometown: West Allis, Wis.
"Adam has for 30 years led an ethical club that instills values of teamwork, commitment, hard work, resilience, and unity for its players while having fun and developing strong volleyball skills."

2022 Girls 12-and-under Coach of the Year
Christina Schmitz
Club: Madtown Juniors
Hometown: McFarland, Wis.
"Coach, Christina has created an environment for these players that allows them to grow and really enjoy the game of volleyball. Christina's biggest goal at the beginning of the year was making sure our players had fun, were good teammates, and continued to learn."

2022 Girls 14-and-under Coach of the Year
Deb Sazama
Club: Xtreme Volleyball Club
Hometown: La Crosse, Wis.
"More importantly, Coach Deb is a mentor and role model for these young girls. She was caring, personable, and POSITIVE both on the court and off the court. She promoted teamwork and encouraged the girls to simply enjoy being together."

2022 Girls 16-and-under Coach of the Year
Mark Sullivan
Club: Elevate Volleyball Club
Hometown: Hillsboro, Wis.
"Mark's athletes have developed a passion to play and a serious competitive streak from him. His influence on their development as players and people can't be overstated. They spend six months of the club season with him, but more than that, he treats them like family."

2022 Girls 18-and-under Coach of the Year
Michael Lopez
Club: Capital Volleyball Academy
Hometown: Madison, Wis.
"Not only has Michael helped the development of skills and volleyball IQ of his players this year, but he also fostered a team culture that built positive relationships and TEAM amongst this group of girls."

2022 Boys Coach of the Year
Christopher Gabel
Club: Revolution Volleyball Academy
Hometown: Waukesha, Wis.
"Coach is not even a proper title. He is so much more than a coach. He is a mentor, a parent, an inspiration, a friend & someone that not only his players can look up to but anyone. He has brought together a group of boys and is helping shape them into men."

2022 Badger Region / AVCA Innovation Award
Bob Hamm
Club: Madison Elite Volleyball Club
Hometown: Madison, Wis.
"Bob always says, 'If I can get a boy in the gym to try volleyball, they will love the sport.' Bob's goal has been to grow the interest in boys volleyball in the Madison and surrounding area, making the sport more accessible to appeal to more athletes."

2022 Badger Region / AVCA Net Works Award
Kevin Fischer
Club: Spiketown
Hometown: Antigo, Wis.
"I know what it is like to have a case full of trophies. That is not what makes athletes or clubs great. Character, perseverance and determination do. Respect, honesty and integrity do. That is what Kevin teaches and models for his coaches and athletes."

2022 Badger Region / AVCA Net Works Award
Amy Angelos
Club: Madtown Juniors
Hometown: Sun Prairie, Wis.
"Amy has worked to form relationships with the Wisconsin volleyball community and has fostered a very close working relationship with current and former players and coaches of the University of Wisconsin volleyball program."

Student-run sand tournament to benefit Wounded Warriors

Kettle Moraine High School student Jacob Hedgcock is motivated.

The senior-to-be is working on a capstone project that incorporates his passion for volleyball and a great cause.

That being said, he is organizing Volleyball For Veterans, a boys U16 and U17 doubles sand volleyball tournament that will take place Saturday, July 23, at the Milwaukee Sting Center.

All proceeds from the event will benefit the Wounded Warrior Project.

Cost is $50 per team and prizes will be given out for first place in each division.

Let's meet Jacob:

Question: You're obviously passionate about volleyball ...

Jacob Hedgcock

what has the sport taught you most that you want to share?

Answer: Volleyball has taught me how to learn on the fly and create habits. Volleyball is a very different sport than most where it is difficult to practice many important skills without playing in a high speed environment. Having to create new habits and cement new skills in this atmosphere has taught me a lot.

Question: Why did you choose to do a fundraiser for the Wounded Warrior Project?

Answer: I wanted to raise money for a cause that everyone can support. Many causes that I came up with may have driven away for many reasons, but I think that everyone can agree that supporting our veterans is a worthwhile cause.

Question: What are you volleyball aspirations as you look ahead in your future?

Answer: I enjoy playing volleyball and would like to continue playing in some form in the future.

Question: What other things can you tell me about yourself? (Hometown, other extra curricular activities, other awards/honors, potential fields of study down the road at college, church/volunteer activities)

Answer: Apart from playing volleyball at Kettle Moraine, I am on the bowling and tennis team as well. I also play bass in chamber orchestra and jazz band, and run a photography and videography business. I am looking to study Entrepreneurship in college.

The event is also sponsored by Frisco Mo. See the advertisement for the tournament on Page 6.

USAV divides GJNCs; Minneapolis, Chicago to host

G11s-13s head north,
G14-17 head south

As the sport of volleyball continues to grow in popularity with young athletes around the country, USA Volleyball is announcing that it will split its Girls Junior National Championship to provide more opportunities for clubs and junior athletes to compete.

To that end, the inaugural USA Volleyball Girls Junior National Championship (GJNC) for the 11-13 age divisions will be held on June 14-17, 2023, in Minneapolis at the Minneapolis Convention Center.

USA Volleyball Events Director Kristy Cox explained the opportunities that the growth of the GJNCs has created for the volleyball community. In 2019, the event brought 1,296 teams with more than 35,000 spectators to Indianapolis, Indiana. In 2021, the event brought 1,303 teams and more than 40,000 spectators to Las Vegas.

“Volleyball participation at the club level and in our championship events has increased dramatically over the last decade. It is important for us to offer opportunities for athletes across the country to compete for a national championship,” Cox said. “We now have seven divisions for the 14-17 age groups, and we are running a 12-day event in Indianapolis this year. We want to make sure we can keep expanding as we focus on growing participation in volleyball at all levels.”

Cox is looking forward to seeing the sport played at venues around the country.

“Cities that might have been dissuaded by the challenge of hosting 1,600 teams will be given the opportunity to host a 400-

600 team event now,” Cox said. “We look forward to bringing GJNC events to venues around the United States.”

Chicago to host G14-17s

USA Volleyball has selected Chicago to host the 2023 inaugural Girls Junior National Championship (GJNC) for the 14-17 age divisions.

USA Volleyball recently announced it is splitting the Girls Junior National Championship beginning in 2023 and having one tournament for the 11-13 age divisions and one for 14-17. This creates more competitive opportunities for athletes and clubs and increases the number of venues that can host.

The tournament will be June 28-July 6 at McCormick Place Convention Center. In addition to a world-class venue, Chicago has many family-friendly attractions including Lake Michigan, Navy Pier, boat cruises as well as world-class theater, shopping, entertainment and restaurants.

“I am thrilled that we are bringing our Girls Junior National Championship to Chicago for the first time ever in 2023,” said Jamie Davis, president and CEO of USA Volleyball. “Chicago and its Midwest hospitality will be the perfect setting for our players, coaches, officials and fans to enjoy the GJNC 14-17 and all the excitement that the city has to offer. I want to thank the Chicago Sports Commission, Choose Chicago and McCormick Place for welcoming us and look forward to seeing USA’s best volleyball take place in the Windy City.”

“We are honored and beyond excited that USA Volleyball has selected Chicago for the 2023 Girls Junior National Championship,” said Kara Bachman, executive director of the Chicago Sports Commission. “We are looking forward to welcoming the athletes, coaches and their families next year in Chicago for an amazing tournament and tremendous overall experience in our great city.”

BEACH VOLLEYBALL BLAST!

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Do kids need to try out before playing beach?

No tryouts for beach. Everyone plays. That's right. Simply sign up and play. No camps, clinics, drills required. Badger Region is all about the junior players actually playing volleyball.

Are there specialized positions in beach?

Do you wear kneepads?

On the sand it's not common. If you have had knee injuries or you just feel most comfortable diving for shots with pads on, then you should not hesitate to wear knee pads or a knee brace while playing.

Are beach courts the same size as indoor?

Beach doubles courts are much smaller. Indoor courts are 60' x 30' and beach courts are 26'3 x 52'6. A smaller court ensures rallies will last longer.

GET EXCITED TO PLAY BEACH VOLLEYBALL

Beach volleyball has become one of the most popular summertime activities. Why play beach volleyball? Well, it's fun! Benefits of the sport include conditioning, cardiovascular exercise, improved agility, and provides outdoor social activity.

Traditionally when athletes are first playing in the sand, they need to get their "sand legs." Many athletes notice the sand is constantly shifting under their feet forcing quick position changes using muscles which are often neglected. Over time sand volleyball players develop excellent endurance and stamina.

Getting outside is really good for mental and physical health.

Beach volleyball provides the opportunity to get outside, enjoy some fresh air, exercise, and make new friends. Get a group of kids together, grab a court at a local park and play. Pick up games can be great for kids who are new to the game.

ADVICE FROM THE EXPERTS

Olympian April Ross said there is one big difference going from the indoor game to the beach. "It's the mental endurance. "You can't have any mental meltdown. You have to approach each one with intensity and emotion."

When asked if he believes indoor players should also play sand volleyball, former Stanford University women's coach John Dunning says yes and that "playing sand can help a player in a variety of ways, including enjoying the game for a longer time and benefiting from the mental aspect of playing on a two-person team."

INDOOR VS. OUTDOOR DIFFERENCES

Outdoors: Beach/grass/sand rule

Games played to 21 points

Playing conditions (wind, sun, texture of the sand) are up to Mother Nature to decide. That's why you switch sides every seven points

Teams consist of two players. There's no bench and no substitutions. Once you step on the court, you don't get to leave until the game is decided

Very tight rules on double contacts — therefore you'll see less overhand setting taking place. No setting is allowed on first contact

Beach players must use their palm, locked or curled fingers to hit a short shot over the net

You can penetrate under the net provided you do not interfere with your opponent

Antennas are rarely used except in pro competition. In the absence of antennas, the posts act as antennas for all purposes except player contact

Indoor volleyball rule

Games played to 25

Athletes don't have weather to contend with. You've got four walls, a roof and good lighting

Indoors, you have six athletes on the court at one time and bench players who can sub in (in addition to a libero).

Rules regarding double contacts (especially on first contacts) are more relaxed to allow for longer rallies

Open-hand tips are allowed.

Center line violations can occur if an athlete causes a safety risk or gains an advantage going past the center line

Indoor rules strictly stipulate the use of antennas to define the crossing space over the net.

How is the Badger Region Board structured?

The Badger Region Volleyball Association is governed by a Board of Directors that must be elected by members on a regular basis. Area reps serve three-year terms, while members of the executive board serve four-year terms.

Members, whether they are players, coaches, parents, directors, athletic trainers or officials, are encouraged to communicate with their respective representative if they think policies or financial decision in the Region need to be changed.

Some policies enforced by Badger Region come from USA Volleyball, our sport's national governing body, so those can't be changed. But many others can.

The Board is advised by a 11 chairpersons (or experts) in various parts of the game, and five staff members (some of which have multiple responsibilities).

The state is divided into five parts geographically for representation. Plus, there are two at-large board members who you can approach if you don't feel comfortable with your current rep. And there is a rep dedicated just to issues that surround our Junior volleyball clubs and athletes.

You'll be hearing from each Board member twice a year in the form of a column in the Badger Beacon. Now, let's meet them:

Recruiting Tip of the Week

The 411 On Scholarships

Jacquie Cason, Northwest Missouri State University

Summer is camp season, and volleyball camps offer an excellent chance for players who think they might want to play in college to showcase their talents. These camps also provide a way for players and their families to learn what it takes to be a college athlete and the differences between NCAA levels.

Players and their families should take advantage of every opportunity to find out more. A common question asked at these camps is how are scholarships administered in each NCAA division and other institutional options. Here are the basics:

NCAA	Type of Scholarship	Amount (fully funded)	Stackable
DI	Headcount	12	NO
DII	Equivalency	8	YES
DIII	No athletic	0	Just academic

The Headcount model: If there are 16 players on the team, athletic scholarship money only funds only 12 individual players. A fully funded program has 12 scholarships, and if a D1 school is not fully funded then they will have less “full-ride” scholarships and move to the equivalency model below. The full-ride scholarship will pay for almost everything at college—tuition, fees, room and board, etc. Based on the school, there may be costs the athlete will have to pay out of pocket. The remaining four players on the team will be considered walk-ons, and they may still qualify for academic scholarships.

The Equivalency model: Here, funding for a total of eight scholarships is available for student-athletes in the program. The amount of money available per school will differ, but it all has to equal the cost of eight full-ride scholarships if they are fully funded. If they aren’t fully funded, then they will have less total scholarships. Coaches determine how to disburse the pool of scholarship dollars. Players or other funding sources have to cover the remaining costs.

The Stackable model: Student-athletes are eligible to receive both athletic scholarship and academic scholarship money. Players with strong academic records can often accumulate enough scholarship money from these two sources to significantly lower the cost of attending college.

Other College Divisions/Levels:

Level	Type of Scholarship	Amount (fully funded)	Stackable
NAIA	Equivalency	8	Aid to athlete
NJCAA DI	Full (tuition and room/board)	Depends on school	Depends on school
NJCAA DII	Tuition only (no room/board)	Depends on school	Depends on school
NJCAA DIII	No athletic money	0	NO

The Aid to Athlete model: The NAIA combines the athletic and academic aid an individual institution gives out, and all financial aid counts towards the volleyball programs equivalency. The equivalency only measures the student-athletes who participate on the varsity team. There are exemptions for those with a GPA higher than 3.5. If a student has a 3.5 GPA and in the top 25% of their class, their scholarship is considered half of a scholarship in equivalency. If a student has a 3.75 GPA and in the top 10% of their class their scholarship is considered fully exempted from counting in the team’s equivalency.

In the final analysis, deciding if and where to play college volleyball can often be very challenging. The availability of scholarships is an essential part of that decision, but not the only one. Choosing a college and volleyball program should also be based on the right competitive level for your abilities and aspirations, the academic and student life experiences that fit your needs, and finding a volleyball program culture that most appeals to your personality and values.
