Badger Region brings home the gold

Boys National Youth and Girls National Youth teams win big at All-Star Championships

The accolades keep rolling in for the Badger Region and its athletes, coaches and teams. After a successfully showing at nationals a few weeks ago, four Badger Region High Performance teams competed July 20-23 in Tulsa, Okla., for the USA All-Star Championships.

Throughout the week, the Badger Region teams brought the heat (in 110-degree weather mind you) and came home with two gold medals and a pair of four-place finishes.

Bringing home the gold were the Boys Youth (athletes born in 2005-2006) and the Girls Youth (athletes born in 2006-2007) teams in the Youth National divisions. The Boys Select team finished fourth in the Boys National Select Division. The Girls Select team moved up a bracket to the Girls International Select division but finished fourth there.

“Having four top-four finishes is outstanding for our Region,” said Badger Region High Performance director Brian Sharkey. “It’s been a while since we brought home any gold medals and this many gold-bracket finishes in one year.”

BEACH VOLLEYBALL BLAST!

WWW.BADGERVOLLEYBALL.ORG | MEMBERSHIP@BADGERVOLLEYBALL.ORG

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Do kids need to try out before playing beach?

No tryouts for beach. Everyone plays. That's right. Simply sign up and play. No camps, clinics, drills required. Badger Region is all about the junior players actually playing volleyball.

Are there specialized positions in beach?

Do you wear kneepads?

On the sand it's not common. If you have had knee injuries or you just feel most comfortable diving for shots with pads on, then you should not hesitate to wear knee pads or a knee brace while playing.

Are beach courts the same size as indoor?

Beach doubles courts are much smaller. Indoor courts are 60' x 30' and beach courts are 26'3 x 52'6. A smaller court ensures rallies will last longer.

GET EXCITED TO PLAY BEACH VOLLEYBALL

Beach volleyball has become one of the most popular summertime activities. Why play beach volleyball? Well, it's fun! Benefits of the sport include conditioning, cardiovascular exercise, improved agility, and provides outdoor social activity.

Traditionally when athletes are first playing in the sand, they need to get their "sand legs." Many athletes notice the sand is constantly shifting under their feet forcing quick position changes using muscles which are often neglected. Over time sand volleyball players develop excellent endurance and stamina.

Getting outside is really good for mental and physical health.

Beach volleyball provides the opportunity to get outside, enjoy some fresh air, exercise, and make new friends. Get a group of kids together, grab a court at a local park and play. Pick up games can be great for kids who are new to the game.

ADVICE FROM THE EXPERTS

Olympian April Ross said there is one big difference going from the indoor game to the beach. "It's the mental endurance. "You can't have any mental meltdown. You have to approach each one with intensity and emotion."

When asked if he believes indoor players should also play sand volleyball, former Stanford University women's coach John Dunning says yes and that "playing sand can help a player in a variety of ways, including enjoying the game for a longer time and benefiting from the mental aspect of playing on a two-person team."

INDOOR VS. OUTDOOR DIFFERENCES

Outdoors: Beach/grass/sand rule

Games played to 21 points

Playing conditions (wind, sun, texture of the sand) are up to Mother Nature to decide. That's why you switch sides every seven points

Teams consist of two players. There's no bench and no substitutions. Once you step on the court, you don't get to leave until the game is decided

Very tight rules on double contacts — therefore you'll see less overhand setting taking place. No setting is allowed on first contact

Beach players must use their palm, locked or curled fingers to hit a short shot over the net

You can penetrate under the net provided you do not interfere with your opponent

Antennas are rarely used except in pro competition. In the absence of antennas, the posts act as antennas for all purposes except player contact

Indoor volleyball rule

Games played to 25

Athletes don't have weather to contend with. You've got four walls, a roof and good lighting

Indoors, you have six athletes on the court at one time and bench players who can sub in (in addition to a libero).

Rules regarding double contacts (especially on first contacts) are more relaxed to allow for longer rallies

Open-hand tips are allowed.

Center line violations can occur if an athlete causes a safety risk or gains an advantage going past the center line

Indoor rules strictly stipulate the use of antennas to define the crossing space over the net.

How is the Badger Region Board structured?

The Badger Region Volleyball Association is governed by a Board of Directors that must be elected by members on a regular basis. Area reps serve three-year terms, while members of the executive board serve four-year terms.

Members, whether they are players, coaches, parents, directors, athletic trainers or officials, are encouraged to communicate with their respective representative if they think policies or financial decision in the Region need to be changed.

Some policies enforced by Badger Region come from USA Volleyball, our sport's national governing body, so those can't be changed. But many others can.

The Board is advised by a 11 chairpersons (or experts) in various parts of the game, and five staff members (some of which have multiple responsibilities).

The state is divided into five parts geographically for representation. Plus, there are two at-large board members who you can approach if you don't feel comfortable with your current rep. And there is a rep dedicated just to issues that surround our Junior volleyball clubs and athletes.

You'll be hearing from each Board member twice a year in the form of a column in the Badger Beacon. Now, let's meet them:
